GUIDE PICKS | THINGS TO DO

VINCENT VAN GOGH IN DALLAS

Being surrounded by moving images conjured from the iconic Dutch artist's colorful, swirling paintings has become such a worldwide phenomenon that about a dozen different productions are on tour. "Immersive Van Gogh" was the first to land in Dallas. Running through Oct. 31 at Lighthouse Artspace Dallas, it is a 40-minute show with 100 video projectors displaying several of Van Gogh's best-known paintings, including The Starry Night, unfurled along the walls and floors, set to rousing music. A second show produced by one of the other companies taking advantage of the artist's popularity, "Van Gogh: The Immersive Experience," is scheduled to open Aug. 19 at Globe Life Park in Arlington. Coincidentally, an exhibit of Van Gogh's olive grove painting series is coming to the Dallas Museum of Art later this year. "Van Gogh and the Olive Groves" will be the first exhibition to reunite all 15 paintings in the series executed during his stay at the asylum of Saint-Rémy-de-Provence. This collaboration between the DMA and the Van Gogh Museum in Amsterdam will demonstrate new discoveries through conservation and scientific research. Get a preview of the exhibit now at Galleria Dallas. Through Aug. 31, shoppers can see reproductions of paintings in the series and some of the educational resources. The preview is the first of several pop-up experiences planned by the museum before the exhibit opens Oct. 17.

Family fun at Klyde Warren Park

The 5.2-acre deck park that sits atop Woodall Rodgers Freeway in downtown Dallas will host two special family-focused activities on Aug. 14. First, Boho Market will present a shopping event featuring booths from child- and teen-owned small businesses. Browse and buy crafts, gifts, treats and more from noon to 4 p.m. Stick around and lay out a blanket on the Ginsburg Family Great Lawn to enjoy a free family-friendly movie at 8:30 p.m. The park hosts film fun days on select Saturdays through December. See the 2019 live-action feature Dora and the Lost City of Gold on Aug. 14 at 8:30 p.m. The lineup also includes Ferris Bueller's Day Off on Sept. 25, Beetlejuice on Oct. 30 and The Polar Express on Dec. 11. Klyde Warren Park has plenty to do even when no special events are taking place, including the Children's Park, interactive water features, lawn games, the Imagination Playground, walking trails, a dog park and food trucks selling drinks and dishes. On Aug. 14, trucks will be selling food from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., including Ruthie's, the Butcher's Son, Yummy Pizza, Wuden Chopsticks, Cone Creamery, Steel City Pops and Bruno's Italian Ice.
